PROFILE

I'm an Applied Science student with a strong interest in statistics and computer science. I really enjoy working with data, solving problems using logical thinking, and learning how technology can be used to understand real-world issues. I'm comfortable with tools like Excel, Python, and Power BI, and I am always curious to learn more. I'm looking for a place where I can apply what I've learned, build new skills, and be part of something meaningful.
